

LLANGENNECH community councillors are delighted that there is now a defibrillator with 24-hour access in the village. Thanks also went to Martin Gravell and Jamie Thorn for allowing the defibrillator to be placed on the outside wall of the pharmacy.

In the photograph are Jonathon Wooldridge, the pharmacist, together with councillors Gary Jones, Colin Lee, Bill Griffiths, Glendon Davies, Gwyneth Thomas, Marian Slader and community council chair Jacqueline Seward.

Defibrillator training will take place at Llangennech Community Centre tonight; at the Bryn Hall on Wednesday, June 6, and at Llangennech

Community Centre on Wednesday, June 13. The training will be provided by Rob Evans and Gerald Rothwell from the Welsh Ambulance Service. All training sessions are free of charge and will be held between 6pm and 8pm. To book a place, call Gwyneth Thomas on 01554 821637.